I need to apologize to those I have not responded to in a few days.

On Thursday night my iPhone got updated and since then when I log into this site near everything is whited out and I can see nothing.

I had to wait until now to come back to work and use my iPad on the company's WiFi.

My Windows PC shows the same way, has for a few weeks now. I just figured something had gone wrong or changed with the site. If you "mark" or click/drag over where the text should be, you'll be able to read it.
