My father actually sat down with me yesterday and called the Kustoms a 'Fetish'. I laughed and proceeded to show him someone's MASSIVE collection, in all the colors. My father excused himself.

LOL.....It's a lot less harmful and or risky than other fetishes
I need to get some other colors to put some "contrast" in the visual merchandising of the collection.

Well, I think we all kind of have a favorite color that we tend to gravitate towards...

Tried for the Gold K150 combo on Ebay last night....I entered a bid and then I had to "sign in"....Of course I couldn't get it submitted in time as I usually only bid at the last moment...I don't like being sniped!!!! It wouldn't have mattered anyway as the bidding went higher than my limit... There was however some Blue Sparkly invectives screamed at Ebay as I was signing in at dialup speeds at Jeannette's house.
