

---

Subject: speaker identification please

Posted by vintagefan on Mon, 06 Mar 2017 18:36:57 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

What brand speaker is this?

I bought a spare speaker for my 1969 K100C-8 amps....

It looks exactly like the original stock speakers in my K100C-8 amps.

But it does not have the same numbers/letters on the metal back frame that my original speakers have.

The only markings are on the backside of the cone which says: LCC65

It measures 7.65 ohms. The seller said it came out of an early 70's Gibson amp.

What brand is it, and will it be ok as a replacement in my K100C-8 amps?

thanks...,

---

---

Subject: Re: speaker identification please

Posted by steven on Mon, 06 Mar 2017 18:43:14 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

If it has the same Aluminum voice coil cover with the black center vent hole , the same number of ribs on the cone and if I recall right the original speakers have a seamed cone also , then yes it's the same and your golden!

---