This is such a subjective topic, I like to get good top end when I play slap or with a pick, but I do not like the spikey top you get with a bass driver and a horn so one lead type 15 and one bass works best for my needs. And you left one of my top choices out of the poll, EV! I have Altec 418Bs 421H and 421As, jbl k140s, CTS, and Electro voice EVM bass and lead, and for me what I like and need for bass are combinations like a 418b with a 421a, or a 421a with a evm bass, or a evm lead with a evm bass, or a 421a with jbl k140 or a 421H. You can not go wrong with any of these drivers for bass, they are all great drivers and loud! Eminence also makes top of the line drivers, and carvin uses them. One thing for sure do not throw out your old CTS drivers, hang on to them or sell them to a kustom or a sunn amp lover.
