
Subject: kustom k200 c guitar

Posted by spur610 on Mon, 06 Dec 2010 23:22:06 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

not sure of year, but its a k200c all original except tuners and tailpiece. serial number 1057. its black. all functions work, i am just going through it. definatley not original tailpiece. not bigsby or other. neck is in great shape, body has some good play marks, dings dents. will post pics shortly. trying to get an idea of what its worth. needs a little work. like 3 of the pickup magnets are sunken inside, but, the pickups work. they have adjustable pole pieces. i am going to restore it to good working order this week. may need help on parts. i paid $100.00 for it today. just want to get it in good playing condition and sell it to someone who will treasure it. i am not going to gouge anyone. had my eye on this one for a while. love the comments on this site. just joined. thanks, jimmy

Subject: Re: kustom k200 c guitar

Posted by pleat on Tue, 07 Dec 2010 00:43:59 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Jimmy, you bring up some interesting questions. The serial number would place it at the very beginning of the K200A guitar. Black was not a factory finish at that time. If the pickups have adjustable pole pieces, would make it a K200A. The K200C guitar did not have adjustable pole pieces. Don't lose the pole pieces, they are the magnet for the pickup. I'd love to see some photo's. If you have some email them to me at djt@chartermi.net and I can tell you what you really have. I'm thinking it may be a K200A that has been refinished and the Bigsby screw holes filled. Does it have a case, and if so what shape is the case, rectangular or form fit?
pleat

Subject: Re: kustom k200 c guitar

Posted by spur610 on Tue, 07 Dec 2010 04:54:43 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

hi, i will send pics in a few days, my camera is tied up. i pulled the neck, same color, it did have a bigsby, someone replaced it with what i think is from a guild. it has adjustable poles and stationary, i fixed the magnets, it functions fine, the action is a little high, have to adjust truss rod tomorrow and having a hard time with intonation, but i am still working on it. just spent 4 hours on it. she looks as good as she, s gonna get. someone replaced the klusions with maybe early shallers. gonna let the neck settle for a few days and try to straighten it a little more, carefully. quite the set up, the neck goes underneath the rythm pickup and its completely hollow. pretty cool. i will send you pics in a few, thanks. jimmy

Subject: Re: kustom k200 c guitar

Posted by kustomizer on Tue, 07 Dec 2010 16:56:58 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I MIGHT BE INTERESTED-Could be a good refinish project

let me know when you have a price
Thanks
Terry
