Hey gang!

How are you all doing?

I myself have been good.

Among the living here.

Got four heads on the bench.

Wife saying I got to finish a bathroom first.

Hoping everyone else is ok both health wise and financially.

Wondering if we are jumping the gun on restarting the US.

Hoping we regain the pull together, lets get things worked out spirit.

Playing my guitar has helped keep my sanity.

Everyone else out there?

John

I think reopening the world really depends on where you live. Here in Chicago, we have the third highest infection rate in the country, only surpassed by New York and New Jersey.

At home, I've been able to catch up on a lot of projects that I have been putting off. The shop I work at is planning to open next week on a restricted basis. I think that I will be putting in far fewer hours than in the recent past.

Let's hope that we all get through this with no serious problems.

Well here in Michigan, I've been doing well. I can't get a haircut but I can get my teeth cleaned.

Makes no sense to me. I am part of a FB page called Krazy Kustom Collectors

<https://www.facebook.com/groups/644415109070708/> and it seems like we have been getting a lot of new Kustom collectors.

Yes, I have noticed that on the FB site, but it seems that more then a few folks do not know what vintage is, lol!

They're called Krazy Kustom Kollectors, so vintage doesn't really matter, I guess.
