Steve, please change your email address in your profile. You subscribe to threads and then your mail server bounces them back as an invalid email address which is filling my mailbox with bounces. I've tried emailing you but same thing, it bounces back.

Sure, but how do I do that. I went to my profile and I can not seem to update it?

Hayden, slightly off topic, but as long as I have your attention. Could you set up a picture post for the guys to post their collections? A couple of guys were able to post pictures on their topics but I have no clue how to do that. Hey I'm 54 years old, give me break. Senior moments come fast and furious.

C4ster, unfortunately we don't have the bandwidth or the server space to allow for hosting of images. There are a number of free services on the web that will allow you do do this, including PhotoBucket and ImageShack. Here is a post on The Home Shop Machinist & Machinists Workshop BBS on how to use PhotoBucket to post images. Hope this helps.
