Hello y'all. New to this site. I have a Kustom Amp blue metalflake tuck & roll with (3- 15's)and the head is a 200B-1. I bought it new back in 1968. It's in great shape - can send pic. I also have the cover for it. Would like to sell, but don't know what a fair price would be to ask. Anyone have any idea's?? Don in Texas.

are you just selling the amp or the whole rig? A blue K200b-1 in mint shape with cover would go for $150-$275 in todays market I would think. In avg. wear run of the mill, would get $100-$200, if your selling the whole rig with cabinet, it all comes down to condition and what speakers are in the cabinet. Send me some pics and I can get a better estament in what you have. Keep in mind 3x15's are kool but are big and people now a days really have issues when they need to move them around! Great rig never the less...
