
Subject: What's a fair price?

Posted by corypaul75 on Thu, 29 Oct 2009 16:23:25 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I want to sell my Kustom 200 black vinyl tuck and roll head...It is in great working condition...each channel...and reverb...a few dings...I don't know what to sell it for so if you are interested in vintage gear please offer me a fair price...thanks

Cory

Subject: Re: What's a fair price?

Posted by Shaun_Musings on Thu, 31 Dec 2009 02:38:05 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

The price range really varies. I have one and I paid 125$ for it. Anywhere from 125$ to 175$ seems fair...

Shaun

Subject: Re: What's a fair price?

Posted by Snodgrass on Fri, 01 Jan 2010 16:27:55 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

yeah black tuck n' roll is probably my personal favorite..... but for what people are willing to pay it's not worth near as much as the other colors

Subject: Re: What's a fair price?

Posted by Shaun_Musings on Fri, 01 Jan 2010 16:33:20 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Oh, I don't worry about values and that stuff. I just love the look and sound of these classics. I agree, though, the other colors are worth more, but they discolor a lot over time, too...

Shaun
